"Kingdom Come" : Reflection on the

"The kingdom of heaven is at hand," John the Baptist proclaims. He is the herald of the new kingdom. He is the portrait of our new king and the shape of the kingdom He has come to bring.

The Lord whom John prepares the way for is the Lord of the robts of Jesse, David's father (see Ruth 4:17).

He will be the Messiah, anointed with the Holy Spirit (see 2 Samuel 23:1; 1 Kings 1:39; Psalm 2:2), endowed with the seven gifts of the Spirit—wisdom, understanding, counsel, strength, knowledge, piety and fear of the Lord.

He will rule with justice, saving the poor from the ruthless and wicked. His rule will be not only over Israel—but will extend from sea to sea, to the ends of the earth. He will be a light, a signal to all nations. And they will seek Him and pay Him homage.

In Him, all the tribes of the earth will find blessing. The covenant promise to Abraham (see Genesis 12:3), renewed in God's oath to David, will be fulfilled. His name will be blessed forever.

In Christ, God confirms His oath to us. Longer are God's promises than the ages of the world. In Christ, we are no longer strangers and aliens, but citizens of the kingdom of God. We are God's chosen people, a royal priesthood, a consecrated nation, a people of God. We are God's covenant people, the people of the promise, the people of the covenants of promises.

John delivers this same message in the Gospel. Once God's chosen people were scattered like sheep (see Isaiah 51:1-2). Now, God will raise up living stones (see 1 Peter 2:5)—children of Abraham born not of flesh and blood but of the Spirit.

This is the meaning of the fiery baptism He brings—making us royal heirs of the kingdom of heaven, the Church.
